It is always a leap of faith using a tradesman you haven't used before, but after seeing the initial designs we felt confident leaving the job in Barry's expert hands. It was a big job, but he has turned our garden from a mess into something very pleasant and easy to maintain. We would definitely use him again and recommend him to anyone. Malcolm Way, Thame

Mayor’s Message
Cllr Bob Johnson

“The Festive Season is fast approaching and I would like to thank you for the immense community support we enjoy as a town.”

We were delighted to welcome Mary Berry as our special celebrity guest at Switch On & Shop on Thursday 24th November. The evening got off to a Christmassy start with ‘real’ snow in the High Street and we were thrilled that Mary was able to announce the opening of Marlow Bridge the following day.

The bridge opened at 10am on Friday 25th November to the delight of traders and residents. I was joined by Val Letheren, Chairman of Bucks County Council, to cut the ribbon and we both jumped in her car to be first to drive over the bridge. So a double good news week for Marlow!

Late Night Shopping took place on Thursday 1st December, a busy, fun-packed evening for all. I presented an award to an unsung hero, Postman Fred Smith, who was nominated by residents on his round, and with the President of the Chamber of Trade and Commerce we judged the best stall.

Now the bridge has re-opened I am sure business will start to boom again and we will become the economic success we have always been. Businesses still want to move to Marlow and trade in our lovely town.

Don’t forget to join us again at Carols on The Causeway on the Thursday 15th December at 6pm to see Santa. Carols will commence at 6.30pm, accompanied by the Town Band and the Choral Society.

Marlow is fortunate to have such an active community, which is never slow to get involved and make things happen. I would like to thank the sports clubs, associations, societies, charitable organisations, churches, guiding and scouting movements, cadets from the three services and many other members’ clubs which continue to make Marlow the best town to live in. THANK YOU!

My chosen charity this year is The Thames Hospice, supported by sales from the Vintage Charity Boutique in Spittal Street. Donations are welcome through Jan@marlow-tc.gov.uk or directly to the Town Mayor’s Charity Account: Sort Code 30-95-36, Account number 03935900.

So on behalf of Marlow Town Council and my wife Shirley, I would like to wish you a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Cllr Bob Johnson
Marlow Town Mayor
Tree Pits

We have recently upgraded the surfaces of the tree pits in Marlow High Street, improving their durability and aesthetics and eliminating the potholes that were forming.

Community Payback

We hope that you’ve noticed areas of improvement in several areas around the town. Every week Marlow Town Council (MTC) benefits from the hard work that is provided by the Community Payback team. We fund a Community Payback Supervisor who, together with our Community and Amenities Officer Barry Cross, has been tackling some long-neglected areas. This is a direct result of taking on Devolved Services from WDC and BCC, allowing us to maintain areas that were not previously under the auspices of MTC. We have a planned programme to continue with this.

Please let us know if there are any areas within the MTC boundary that may need attention. If they fall within our new areas of maintenance responsibility, we will add them to the list. We continue to use Quadron Services for all other aspects of MTC and Devolved Services grounds maintenance.

Barry’s ‘Mobile Drop Ins’

These have been called off for the time being as there have been fewer and fewer visitors. We’d like to think that’s because there are fewer concerns! Please remember that there are still many ways that you can contact us:

Who Does What?
Who looks after you in Marlow?

Each council plays a different role. Do you know which council empties your dustbins, runs the Marlow Library, owns our allotments, repairs broken lights, owns and runs our cemetery and chapel, or is responsible for Higginson Park?

We know it can be confusing and it’s not always easy to find out who is responsible for what – which can sometimes be frustrating. The information below is designed to point you in the right direction and the Marlow Town Council office will always try and help you with your initial queries and put you on the right path, even if they can’t help directly. Great Cake Debate

Marlow schools get a taste for democracy

Marlow schools have learned about politics and had plenty of fun with Marlow Town’s Council’s campaign to raise awareness of democracy and the voting process among the young people of Marlow.

On Thursday 6th October, Year 6 pupils at Holy Trinity School held an election to decide on the best cake - with rosettes for campaign leaders, posters and speeches in Assembly. Millionaires Shortbread came out top – and Mayor, Cllr Bob Johnson, supplied the winning cakes for the whole school.

At Foxes Piece on Thursday 20th October, the Year 6 pupils formed parties and canvassed for their winning cake, which was the Chocolate Mini-Roll, by a narrow majority. Everyone at the school received a Chocolate Mini-Roll from the Mayor.

As part of the Town Council’s Vision to engage with the town’s younger residents the children were asked for their feedback. Cllr Johnson promised to share all their ideas with his fellow Councillors and to post a selection of their comments on the Council’s website.

“We want to listen to all our residents, young and old. Meeting our younger Marlovians at school and offering a glimpse of what we do in exchange for hearing their views is hugely beneficial - they are the voters of the future.”

Town Mayor, Cllr Bob Johnson

Remembrance Lunch

A toast to veterans and absent friends

The Town Council hosted this annual event in Court Garden House on Saturday 12th November. Veterans arrived for the lunch on a rather dismal rainy day but the atmosphere within the Higginson Room was very upbeat. Veterans met up with old friends from all parts of the Armed Forces, together with Cadet Commanders of the Sea Cadets and Air Training Cadets, and Town Councillors.

After the Lunch, Wg Cdr David Riley, RAF Naphill, gave the Loyal Toast. Mayor Bob Johnson made a speech in which he welcomed the veterans to the lunch, together with Wg Cdr David Riley and Mde Stephanie Thieyre, Councillor and Deputy Mayor from Marly-le-Roi.

The Mayor said: “It was especially important to remember absent friends who have sadly passed away since our last lunch. Those we have been advised about are: Mr John Abbott, Mr William Deveraux and Mr William Taylor. We remember them today as absent friends.” He concluded by asking Councillors and Town Council staff to stand and raise a glass to toast the veterans.

Mr Shaun Murphy, Chairman of the Marlow Branch of the Royal British Legion, replied on behalf of the guests to say how much the veterans appreciate this event and that it is the only event of its kind in the county. He thanked the Mayor and the Town Council.

Thousands of people congregated in Marlow High Street on Sunday 13th November to take part in the very moving Ceremony of Remembrance held at Marlow’s War Memorial on The Causeway.

Representatives from all the Services were present, with their associated Cadet Forces, Scouts, Brownies and little ones from the Rainbows. They marched from the Royal British Legion headquarters in Station Approach along Station Road to the Memorial, led by the Scots Association Pipe Band. Over 34 wreaths were laid at the memorial by wreath-bearers from all walks of the Marlow community. Lord Lieutenant Sir Henry Aubrey-Fletcher commenced the wreath laying, followed by the Mayor of Marlow, Bob Johnson; the Mayor of Marly-le-Roi, Jean-Yves Perrot; and the Deputy Mayor of Marly, Mme Stephanie Thieyre.

The Mayor began the reading of the names of the fallen from the First World War and then passed over to the Sea Cadets, Air Training Cadets and Army Cadets who each read a page of names from the two wars.

Reverend Dave Bull, Minister at All Saints’ Marlow, took the service, aided by Reverend Nick Thompson from Marlow Methodist Church and Coral Rumble from Newfield Community Church.

Following the service, the parade marched up the High Street where crowds lined the road waving Union flags. The Lord Lieutenant took the salute at the end of Institute Road and the parade marched back to the British Legion Headquarters, where all those who took part in the parade and service were provided with refreshments by the Royal British Legion Club.

People flocked into Marlow on Thursday evening, 24th November, for the town’s fourth annual Switch On & Shop event, where Mary Berry was the celebrity guest. More than 6,000 people were estimated to have attended, with crowds filling the High Street from top to bottom.

The event celebrates the start of the Christmas season with the switching on of the beautiful Christmas lights display. Mary signed books at Marlow Book Shop at the start of the evening and then met Council members and sponsors of the event at The Chequers pub in the High Street. There were even flurries of snow as machines helped give the event a Christmassy atmosphere, along with carols and songs from the Marlow Choral Society, Sir William Borlase’s Grammar School Gospel Choir and the Tapestry Choir.

At 6.30pm Mary was escorted to the top of the double-decker bus in the High Street, where she was welcomed by Marlow FM’s Tim Ashburner and Town Mayor Cllr Bob Johnson, to huge cheers from the crowds. People hung from first- and second-storey windows along the High Street to wave as she joined in the countdown and pushed the plunger to illuminate the centre of Marlow.

“It’s fantastic - I’ve never seen so many people in the centre of Marlow,” said Mayor Bob Johnson. “Mary is a fan of Marlow; she loves coming here to shop and to eat. She certainly did us proud at the Switch On and we’re so grateful to her for making the event extra special this year.”

After the lights went on, Mary did a live interview with BBC London News, who had been in the town earlier in the day talking to retailers about the bridge closure and the news of its imminent opening.

Why are you doing this?

You know that feeling when you wake up in the morning unsure if what you did was a dream or reality? Well, the last few months have been like that for me. But it was a reality - I did row the length of the navigable Thames and I did complete it in 47 hours 59 minutes and 54 seconds.

It is going to take Guinness World Records a few months to verify the record, so we will have to wait. However, there is no doubt I am the first woman ever to have rowed 165 miles from Lechlade to Gravesend in a single scull and in one hit.

One thing I will never forget about this experience is the support I had at every lock, on many of the bridges, from other river users on their boats and from people standing on the bank. It was phenomenal and every shout was a little energy boost, which I can tell you was much needed, especially in the last few hours.

Those last few hours will always stick in my mind as the toughest; I was past the Thames Barrier with no landmarks, nothing to show me how far I had come and, to add to the struggle, I was heading into the incoming tide, so whenever I stopped to stretch, eat or drink I would float back towards London! The QE2 Bridge nearly drove me insane... I was looking over my shoulder now and again and it didn’t get any bigger for what seemed like hours. When I finally passed underneath, I had just 5.5 miles to go. That’s just over two laps of Dorney Rowing Lake. Now that was achievable!

A couple of days before I started The Great Thames Row at Lechlade, Jacqui Jones, a great friend and fellow rower, asked me to write down the reason I was doing this bonkers challenge. First and foremost it was to raise money for IN-vision and to raise awareness of Infantile Nystagmus. It was also to set a new Guinness World Record.

Beneath all that, though, it was much more personal. I needed to lay to rest some of my own ghosts, to prove to myself that I could achieve, despite what people in my past had told me. When she could see me struggling, Jacqui just asked: “Naomi, why are you doing this?”

My response? “Because I can!”

“Our trained staff will take care of everything, from start to finish for complete peace of mind.”
Local Olympic and Paralympic athletes were given a heroes' welcome in Marlow on Sunday 2nd October in Higginson Park.

Crowds arrived to meet a host of sports stars from the district, including talented teenage shooter Amber Hill, double Olympic gold medallist Helen Glover and London 2012 Paralympic champion Naomi Riches. They were joined by members of Marlow Rowing Club; Britain’s most decorated female Olympian, Katherine Grainger; and Paralympic champions Jeanette Chippington, Clare Griffiths and Katie-George Dunlevy.

The sun shone as the athletes spent more than an hour in the park meeting their fans, signing autographs and being photographed.

Marlow Mayor Bob Johnson said: “We’re proud to have been chosen by the District Council to host the Olympic and Paralympic stars.

“The amount of time, effort and commitment that these guys give to their profession and to our residents is fantastic. They have given so much time to members of the public - the whole thing has been brilliant.”

On Friday 11th November the Duke of Edinburgh team at Sir William Borlase’s Grammar School and Inspired Expeditions invited the Mayor to their Gold DoE presentation evening at the Borlase Theatre to celebrate the success of the pupils who completed the expedition section of their Duke of Edinburgh Gold Award.

For the third year in a row a group of Year 12 students from the school chose to do their Gold Duke of Edinburgh expedition in Norway, walking in the Norwegian Mountains and Sea Kayaking on Sognefjord with Inspired Expeditions. This world-class expedition takes a lot of commitment from the participants, lots of training, planning, preparation and organisation. Once the expedition staffing team were happy with all the groups it was time to head to Norway for their qualifying expedition.

The nine-day trip to Norway is designed to be a memorable, challenging experience where each participant gets to see the unique landscape that Norway has to offer. After acclimatising, the groups set off on their expedition - two groups in kayaks and two groups in the mountains.

The groups on the water paddled on Sognefjord, the third largest fjord in the world, where the highlight for many of them was seeing porpoise swimming around their kayaks. All the groups arrived back safely to base camp and spent the final day sightseeing in Bergen before returning home.

Restoring The Record

New rules regarding ‘lost ways’ in Buckinghamshire

From 1st January 2026, it will no longer be possible to use historic map and documentary evidence to claim ‘lost ways’. Any path, track, alleyway, bridleway, cut-through not registered on the Definitive Map – or submitted for registration - could well be in danger of being lost. Even old and still well-used, but officially unrecorded, routes may be at risk.

We take our access to the countryside for granted; we use public footpaths and bridleways for recreation and as a means of linking places together without thinking. But, if we don’t check what we already have or what has been used in the past and that it is legally recorded, we could lose this access forever. The ancient maxim on which many claimants have relied in the past, ‘once a highway, always a highway’, will be history.

Simply put, a small strip of land between a highway and the start of a definitive path might be unregistered. After 2026, a landowner could put a gate or fence across it and restrict all entry to the public, quite legally – thus permanently hindering access to the countryside because we have assumed, but not checked, that the Definitive Map is up-to-date and accurate. It will not be just our generation that will suffer but those who follow after us. Is that the legacy we wish to leave them?

The ‘Restoring the Records’ project is looking for volunteers to check maps, walk paths to ensure the correct signs are in place, do research, interview local people about their memories and get new links. Local knowledge will be the key.

The plan is to recruit a volunteer or volunteers in every Buckinghamshire Parish and Town Council to spread the load and speed up the exercise. No previous knowledge or training is needed; the Project Team is preparing a simple step-by-step guide, which will answer most of the more common questions and will supply a map of your local area showing the rights of way.

If you are interested in becoming involved in this fascinating and very important treasure hunt, please email Ross Osborn, the Project’s Volunteer Co-ordinator, at rossosborn41@gmail.com. Ross will be happy to answer any questions and arrange for all necessary information and maps to be sent to you.

The ‘Restoring the Records’ project is looking for volunteers to check maps, walk paths to ensure the correct signs are in place, do research, interview local people about their memories and get new links.
As Police Community Support Officers (PCSOs) based at Marlow Police Station, part of our role is to tackle priorities identified by our local communities. Part of our approach towards solving anti-social behaviour (ASB) involving younger people is the introduction of ‘Community Cop Cards’. This is an initiative that we will be launching in partnership with Wycombe District Council (part-funding the initiative) in 2017, aimed at all Year 6 children (ages 10-11) within the primary schools in the Marlow and south west rural areas of Marlow. This scheme will reach approximately 580 pupils in 16 of our schools. Its primary aim is to work on preventing ASB among our younger generation. This scheme has successfully been run before and was initially named ‘Cop Cards’. It started in the Metropolitan Police area and was introduced into Thames Valley in 2009. It is a popular and effective scheme but was discontinued in 2010 due to lack of funding. In 2015 the Chiltern and South Bucks Councils reintroduced the Cop Cards scheme and renamed it ‘Community Cards’. They found the scheme worked extremely well and resulted in an 80% decrease in ASB from 2015 to 2016.

The initiative requires pupils to earn stickers by completing various tasks and challenges across a range of community events and activities such as substance misuse awareness, media, first aid, cyber safety, good attendance, respect, personal safety, road safety, citizenship, sports, well being, fire safety, becoming involved in a club or organisation, healthy lifestyle, libraries, learning about the environment and sustainable travel. A key outcome for PCSOs within Thames Valley Police was the ability to access schools and interact with the children. We found that as we went into classes and took some of the lessons such as anti-social behaviour, road safety and cyber safety, the children got to know their local policing team, building trust and a positive relationship, which has been shown to last into their adulthood. Many of the pupils from 2009 still engage with us now. Thames Valley Police values partnership working so other approved agencies will be involved with this scheme, either creating online packages, going into schools and delivering lessons or organising activities.

To acquire stickers, each pupil must provide evidence that he or she has completed a task; this can be a signature from someone from a youth club, designing a poster or completing a workbook. These stickers are gained inside and outside of school hours. This isn’t just an individual scheme; the idea of the scheme is to drive class effort, thereby creating a network of peer support and encouragement for the pupils. We need funding and prizes to operate the scheme. Each pupil will be issued with a letter to take home to their parents. Any local businesses or organisations who contribute will have the opportunity to advertise to over 500 families. Sponsors’ logos will appear on the cards and on the website and we hope to generate positive media coverage.

If you have any questions about the scheme or feel able to help please email: Penelope.ling@thamesvalley.pnn.police.uk or Claire.bowles@thamesvalley.pnn.police.uk

As part of our community, we hope you will work in partnership with us to deliver this fantastic scheme to local young people. If you would like to offer a prize or contribute to the funding, please contact either of the PCSOs listed above or The ASB Officer, Michelle Harvey, from Wycombe District Council on 01494 421087 or email michelle.harvey@wycombe.gov.uk.
